A DAY'S DOINGS IN ARIZONA

RECEIVER OF LAND OFFICE IS SUSPENDED

FEN S. HILDRETH OF THE PHOENIX LAND OFFICE FINDS HIMSELF AT LEAST TEMPORARILY WITHOUT A JOB.

PHOENIX, April 28.—Receiver Fen S. Hildreth of the Arizona land office is under temporary suspension. Register Lyman W. Wakefield is in entire charge of the office as a result of irregularities, it is alleged, have been discovered in the affairs of Receiver Hildreth by a special agent sent out from Washington.

Much secrecy is maintained about the affair at the land office and it was with difficulty that any information could be obtained at all there today.

Neither Register Wakefield nor suspended Receiver Hildreth would give out any detailed statement regarding the difficulty.

It was admitted, however, that a special government agent had been investigating the receiver's affairs for some time and that as a result of his report to the general land office in Washington, the suspension followed.

Just what this report may have contained is known only to the land officials and they do not appear disposed to give anything out for publication at present.

Receiver Hildreth, although declining to go into details about his suspension, admitted that it is true. He added, however, that everything will be satisfactorily arranged within a few days and that he will again be back at work in his regular position. He would not state whether the difficulty is due to any money shortage or to errors in the conduct of the affairs of his department of the land office.

The suspension took effect on Thursday, but it was kept very quiet and save for street rumors which became current last night, it might still have been unknown as the land officials did not give the matter any publicity.

Register Wakefield was asked today for a statement regarding the situation, but he replied that he could give nothing out for publication. He admitted, however, that he is now in sole charge of the land office, pending further developments.

ARIZONA NEWS AND COMMENT

Prof. S. C. Newsome, head of the department of English at the University of Arizona, can have the superintendency of Tucson public schools if he will accept the position. A second tender of the superintendency of the schools for next year was made to Prof. Newsome on Friday.

An unknown man was killed on the railroad Friday evening at Gila Bend.

M. Morisuma, a young Jap of San Antonio, was in Tucson on his way to Japan. He is disgusted with America because at the cattlemen's convention at San Antonio several weeks ago some one poured a glass of beer down his back while he was seated at a table in a beer garden. Morisuma's father is said to be worth $10,000,000, being a merchant doing business in Tokio and New York.

A Southern Pacific guard who was bringing two Chinese boys from San Francisco to El Paso, left them at Benson and missed the train on Friday. The two Chinese boys went on to El Paso alone. The boys were en route to Cuba and the railroad company was under bond to deliver them at the port of New York.

The city of Tucson has a new directory out and claims are made of a population of 20,000 or 22,000.

Work has been resumed at Roosevelt dam. The new machinery at the power house had not been doing satisfactory work.

John H. Coulton of Tucson has been appointed a cadet to the Naval Academy and will go to Annapolis for the examination in June.

A. D. Wallace, postmaster, hotel keeper, notary public, merchant and boss booster of Rodeo, was in Lordsburg, N. M., last Saturday, being on a business trip that will take in Deming and El Paso. Mr. Wallace is one of the earliest settlers at Rodeo, having located there before there was a townsite surveyed, says the Lordsburg Liberal.

The Morenci Leader spoiled a mighty good halftone cut to illustrate a very bum story.

The Indians of the Colorado river reservation about Parker, anticipating the efforts which will inevitably be made by the white invaders attracted by the copper and gold lure of that country, rendered accessible by the new railroad, to gain possession of their land, have arranged to checkmate the move, the Yuma Examiner says.

General Frank C. Prescott, register of the federal office at Los Angeles, has been approached by representatives of the Parker Indians to aid them in discarding the community reservation for individual farms. They became convinced that this is the best way in which their interests can be protected, and instead of facing the government as a stolid, grunting antagonist, they will act through intelligent leaders.

So far 1388 voters have registered at Bisbee. Last year 1286 registered.

Two young ladies of Sheldon, Graham county, fought a fist fight for the "charms" of a young man. The privileges and strenuousness of leap year slightly extenuate the case.

The young cantaloupe vines in the Phoenix district are looking fine and a big crop is predicted.

Tempe antiolists enjoyed an excursion to Roosevelt Sunday.

To wipe out conditions which made possible the killing of Sergeant Jeff Kidder, of the Arizona rangers, at Naco, the Mexican government has dismissed every policeman at Naco and every line rider of that district, a total of twenty officers being discharged. Also an order has been issued revoking the licenses of the fifteen saloons at Naco. Sonora Ranger Kidder was killed April 3 and the Mexican government immediately began an investigation of the affair and of all the circumstances leading thereto. No tangible evidence of a conspiracy against Kidder was available, but the federal authorities felt justified in taking the drastic measures which they did.

Yuma valley has a new and vital need for the busy little bee. It is the spreading of pollen among the cantaloupe beds. Except for the wind and the bees it would be impossible to grow the valuable little melons. The bees, of which there are many, do the work in a systematic manner from the day the vines flower, so that this important portion of cantaloupe culture is neither an accident nor mechanical. Every cantaloupe grower should maintain a few bee stands.

Two years ago A. B. Fishbaugh sold forty acres of land about twelve miles from Yuma to his brother, John Fishbaugh, Jr., for the modest sum of $12.50 an acre. He even felt guilty about taking the money because the land did not look good to him at that time. The other day he bought a ranch adjoining for $50 per acre and thinks he got a bargain.

A few days ago the railway mail clerk leaving El Paso for the west found among the letters one addressed to "Hell," and having, of course, heard the old soldier story, put it in the Yuma sack. It was easy for Postmaster Chandler; he wrote "Imperial, Cal." beneath, marked it "Missent" in red ink and forwarded it to the submarine city.—Yuma Sentinel.

"Ma's New Husband"

When you see "Ma's New Husband" at the Dreamland theater tonight, he will impress you as the most mirth-provoking imp of a man ever. And he is surrounded by the jolliest crowd of men and women that has ever been brought together to convulse and amuse an audience. This is no joke. If you doubt it, just stay away and your friends will have the joke on you for the next three months or more—more is nearer the mark. Please remember, too, that "Ma's New Husband" is honest, downright, genuine amusement of the lightest kind, with more laughs in it than a man or a woman's good nature can hold. In brief, it is a musical farce comedy, brimful of fun, in which some of the cleverest farceurs on the stage entertain you. Reserve seats at once.
